

CLEVITE ENGINE PARTS DIVISION

November 6, 2006

To Whom It May Concern:

Clevite Engine Parts is an automotive aftermarket company with eleven locations within the United States. Datanational has provided IT services to Clevite Engine Parts for a number of years.

Datanational has provided all aspects of systems support for a number of major systems conversions and implementations over this period. A number of these projects were valued at over $1M each and all were completed on time and under budget.

Throughout this time, Datanational has worked tirelessly in order to manage, test, and implement these projects. Their staff has worked effectively with our IT staff, operations staff, vendor staffs, and other outside consultants. Their efforts not only took the technical skills needed to deal with implementations of this magnitude, but also the project management skills that were so important in making these projects successful.

I am pleased to provide a reference for Datanational as they look at other opportunities. I am available to be reached at 662-892-6333.

Thanks!
